OBSERVANCE OF SUNDAY.

Indianapolis Objects to Concerts and the Opening of the World's Fair on That Day.

The Indianapolis Ministers' Association held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlor yesterday, which was largely attended, the preachers having come together to express themselves on the subject of "Sacred Concerts." The following resolution, introduced by Rev. E. P. Whallon, was unanimously adopted:

We urge our Law and Order League and our authorities to investigate the matter of opening the theaters for so-called sacred concert per-formances of a character not in accordance with the proper legal observances of the day, and serving as the sharp edge of the wedge for the opening of all these places for general amuse-

A resolution was passed protesting against the opening of the Columbian Exposition on Sunday and urging the commissioners to decide positively and without delay in favor of a proper regard for that day. A resolution introduced by Rev. D. R. Lucas was also adopted, favoring the employment of a matron to be placed in charge of female prisoners at the station-

Rev. Dr. J. S. Jenckes read a paper on "The Divine Plan of Growth," in which he held that the law of development as demonstrated in the sciences held true in moral life. The paper was discussed by Rev. F. N. Dexter, Rev. T. N. Todd, Rev. Dr. H. A. Cleveland and others. Lea W. Munhall, the evangelist, formerly of this city, new of Philadelphia, made a few remarks at the close of the meeting.

Found Hanging in His Attic.

Coroner Wagner was called to No. 334 Railroad street, yesterday morning, at 6 o'clock, to view the remains of Gottlieb Grieb, sixty-three years of age, a stonemason, who had been found by his son an hour before, hanging by a rope from a rafter in the attic. He had mounted a chair to adjust the noose and then kicked it from under him. The coroner could ascertain no cause other than despondency and hard drinking to lead to the act, and rendered a verdict of suicide by hanging.

Stephen Kesler Released. After an investigation of Stephen Kesler's firing a pistol on South New Jersey street early Sunday morning and his arrest Superintendent Travis released him. The young man said the firing was accidental and that he had not been in a disreputable resort in the neighborhood where the firing occurred.

The Police Commissioners,

The Police Board conferred special powers yesterday on Mike Weigund, William S. Kersey, C. D. Hoyle and Charles E. Faunet, Superintendent Travis reported 289 arrests for October, of when 270 were males.

THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Attention the Proposed Freight Bureau Is Receiving from Business Men.

They Are Giving It Strong Indorsement and Are Ready to Raise Money Required to Make the Organization Effective and Secure.

The regular monthly meeting of the governors of the Board of Trade took place last evening. The finance committee reported a balance on hand in the regular fund of $4,155.31, and in the mortuary fund of $3,-069. The membership committee recommended making an assessment of $2 on each member to meet the mortubenefit of James A. Morrison. The committee on communication reported a request from the Business Mens' Association and Exchange, of Syracuse, N. Y., for the influence of the board in the direction of reducing letter postage to 1 cent. The committee recommended that it be laid on the table, which was done. The announcement was made that the Brick Manufacturers' Association would hold its annual meeting here in January, in response to an invitation from the board. The committee on revision of the by-laws reported the changes it has made in the old rules governing the board, and Mr. Bowen explained that the changes made in reference to the board of governors were simply for the purboard of governors were simply for the purpose of defining the latter's duties; that heretofore its duties were indefinite, and while, in a general way, it was authorized to look after the business of the board, there were no specific statements as to what autority it had or how it might be exercised. This report was approved, as were the ones preceding it.

The transportation committee, through Mr. Gordon, its chairman, reported the constitution and by-laws of the Indianapolis Freight Bureau. Mr. Gordon stated that the subcriptions had been quite liberal, and that the furniture men, who would hold a meeting this week to determine the amount of their subscription, would probably give $1,000, perhaps more. This, he said, was Mr. Stechhan's belief. Mr. Bowen thought the Board of Trade'should have a majority of members of the bureau instead of an equal number, as at present contemplated. There was some discussion over this point, and Mr. Scott finally moved that the by-lawsof the bureau beso amended as to make the president of the Board of Trade ex officio president of the freight bureau. This motion was agreed to, as was one authorizing President Tanner to appoint the eight members of the board who are to be members of the bureau.

Mr. Tanner appointed as such members the following gentlemen: D. P. Erwin, l. S. Gordon, C. E. Hall, W. H. Griffith, W. B. Holton, John B. Shaw, Arthur Jordan, Chapin C. Foster. The other eight members representing shippers not of the Board of Trade were selected a week ago, as follows: Otto Stechhan, George W. Fuller, Edward H. Dean, H. C. Coughlen, E. L. Whittemore, William Taylor, Evan F. Lilly and John Laurie.

Mr. Gordon said that it was not quite bly give $1,000, perhaps more. This, he Edward H. Dean, H. C. Coughlen, E. L. Whittemore, William Taylor, Evan F. Lilly and John Laurie.

Mr. Gordon said that it was not quite clear whether the board by its action at a previous meeting had subscribed $2,000 to the establishment of a bureau or whether that amount was merely guaranteed and was to be drawn upon only in case of a deficit. He stated that he had obtained subscriptions upon the assurance that this $2,000 had been actually subscribed by the board to be assessed pro rata, and that he would like to have the point definitely decided. The actual amount subscribed to date, he said, was $5,050, which did not include the board's $2,000. The furniture men, as he had already stated, would very likely subscribe at least $1,000, and there were a number of manufacturers and shippers who had not been called upon, but would be within the next ten days. Mr. Moore had been secured as commissioner, and this move was thought to be one which would insure the success of the bureau, as he is an experienced freight man. Mr. Gordon referred to the value to the wholesalers of this city of the weekly half-rate excursions which would be taken hold of by the bureau as soon as the latter was partly under way. Instead of having their customers from all parts of the State come upon them at once, the weekly excursions would enable these merchants from the country to come in sections, and they could therefore be given more attention. Mr. Shaw thought that if the bureau expected to handle the freight grievances of all subscribers it would have to employ a score of clerks and make a charge for the service.

In answer to this it was explained that it was not the intention of the bureau during the first year of its existence, at least, to take up and push small charges against railroad companies, but to see what the Indianapolis shippers need in various directions which will benefit ail of them and to secure them these advantages. After the bureau has been running for a year, and the mere important matters adjusted satisfactor by the board be considered an actual subscribtion, not merely a guarantee. Mr. Bowen me red to amend by providing that the board subscribe $2,000, conditional upon $6,000 being raised outside. Mr. Gordon motion was then agreed to, after which the board adjourned. Commercial Club's Project.

promptly accepted the amendment, and his

The liberality of the public-spirited citizens of the city is very creditably shown in the financial support that is being given the Commercial Club building project. The members of the committee are much elated over the encouragement they are receiving. Reports were made yesterday by Messrs. Edward Hawkins, Harry E. Drew, J. W. Chipman, Samuel E. Rauh and George R. Sullivan, who, together with Colonel Lilly, secured during the day the following subcriptions;

M. O'Cornor..... $1,000 J. F. Pract..... Kahn Tailoring Company..... Julius C. Walk..... W. G. Sherman.... Cortland Van Camp..... Dr. Joseph Haas..... 1. J. Treat..... . C. Pierson ..... Emil Wulschner.....

In addition to the work of the committee subscriptions to stock are being received from members by mail, and there is generally manifested a strong interest in the success of the building project.

CULLINGS FROM THE COURTS.

Damages for Slander and Another for Alienation of Affection.

Jennie Meyers bas sued Maurice Huffman in the Circuit Court for $10,000 damages for alleged slander. The plaintiff says that for the last six years the defendant has been defaming her by false statements, and that on Oct. 28 he publicly denounced her. David Wurth filed a complaint yesterday in the Superior Court against Christian Sommerland for $10,000 damages. In 1867 Wurth married Katharina Buttner, and he says they lived happily together until recently. Sommerland is accused of alienating Mrs. Wurth's affections from her husband and of leading her astray on May 1

Jones Got the Insurance Money.

'Squire Smock yesterday decided the case of William Long vs. the Farmers' and Breeders' Live Stock Insurance Company, of Elkhart, which he had under advisement for several days. Nimrod Jones pur-chased a horse of Long on payments, and had it insured for $60. The horse died, and Long claimed the insurance on an alleged verbal agreement between him and Jones. The court adjudged that the agreement could not hold in the face of the note of partial payments, and that the money of right belongs to Jones. It was promptly paid over to him, having been left on deposit with the justice by the company.

Order to Show Cause. The Wabash Railroad Company was yesterday ordered by Judge Woods to show cause next Saturday why the United States marshal shall not give the Chicago & Erie possession of the Chicago & Atlantic railroad. The order further requires a showing why an injunction should be granted preventing the Wabash from prosecuting its suit against the Chicago & Erie. This suit is to enjoin the latter company from denying the Wabash the use of certain tracks near Chicago.

Sent to the Grand Jury. Frank Shipman, eleven years of age, was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor Sullivan, yesterday, on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of stealing a horse and buggy from in front of the Model Sunday night.

HOW HE BECAME A STORY WRITER.

Richard Malcolm Johnston Talks of His Career and Early Literary Efforts.

Richard Malcolm Johnston, whose sketches of rural life in Georgia have been among the most delightful contributions to current magazine literature, is in the city for two or three days pending his reading at Plymouth Church on Wednesday evening, which will be the opening entertainment in the Indianapolis lecture course. Colonel Johnston, for he bears that title, is tall and elderly, his hair and mustache being white, but his eye is clear, his manner gracious, and he is a most entertaining talker, his speech having a rich Southern flavor. He was with James Whitcomb Riley when the reporter came upon him at the Denison House, and that gentleman kindly gave his assistance to draw the Colonel out. "Story-writing," said the Colonel, "is the last thing for me in literature, and I came to it in a way altogether accidental. I had published two or three volumes on English literature, and in conjunction with a friend had written a life of Alexander Stephens, and also a book on American and European literature, but had no idea of story-writing for money. Two or three stories of mine found their way into the papers before I left Georgia."

literature, but had no idea of story-writing for money. Two or three stories of mine found their way into the papers before I left Georgia."

"When was 'Abraham Billingslea' written?" inquired Mr. Riley.

"Oh, that is recent, only three years ago. I went to Baltimore in 1867. I had been a professor of English literature in Georgia, but during the war I took a school of boys. I removed to Baltimore and took forty boys with me and continued my school. There was at Baltimore in 1870 a periodical called the Southern Magazine. The first nine of my 'Dukeborongh Tales' were contributed to that magazine. These fell into the handsof the editor of Harper's Magazine, who asked me what I got for them. I said 'not a cent' and he wanted to know why I had not sent them to him. 'Neelus Peeler's Conditions' was the first story for which I got pay. It was published in the Century, over the signature of 'Philemon Perch.' Dr. Holland told Mr. Gilder to 'tell that man to write under his own name,' adding that he himself had made a mistake in writing under a pseudonym. Sidney Lanier urged me to write, and said that if I would do so he would get the matter in print for me. So he took 'Neelus Peeler's Conditions,' and it brought me $50. I think he was more greatly rejoiced over the money than I was—and I'm not a man to turn my back on $50. I was at first really surprised that my stories were considered of any value, either in a literary or pecuniary way. I am a little surprised yet. I withdrew from teaching about six years ago and since that time have devoted my time to authorship.

"I have nover put a word in my books," continued Col. Johnston, "that I have not heard the people use, and very few that I have not used myself. Powelton. Ga., " is my Dukeborough. I was born fourteen miles from there and the road leading down to that place was a rough one. The first of the 'Dukeborough tales' was the 'Goosctown School.' Of the female characters is started Doolana to make her mean, and very fero the was her mean, and then she just made her is now a bishop-Bishop Lucius Holsey. Mrs. Frank Leslie's Lecture. Mrs. Frank Leslie will lecture at English's Opera-house Thursday night on "Royal Leaders of Society." She will tell the story of an American in Europe, forced by questioning to acknowledge that he had never seen Niagara, drawing there-from a humorous parallel between herself and that abashed individual. Mrs. Leslie is known through the large publishing in-terests she has and the literary work she has done. She is in many respects an exceptional woman, and her lecture is said to be no whit behind her other achievements.

Dr. Heagles's Panorama. At the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening there was a fair audience to hear the Rev. Dr. Heagles, Ph. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Evansville, talk about "Solo-mon's Temple and Jerusalem." The lecture was illustrated by a fine panorama of many yards of canvas. The temple and scenes about Jerusalem were shown with all the skill of artists, and caused the warmest commendation.

The President's Coming.

President Harrison will remain in the city to-day but a few hours, his coming being solely to cast his vote in Precinct 13, at the southwest corner of Seventh and Pennsylvania streets. The President left Washington yesterday by the Pennsylvania railroad and will reach here at 11:40 this morning. He is accompanied by Attorneygeneral Miller and the President's stenographer, Mr. Tibbott. The President will spend some time with his daughter, who is at the residence of her father, R. S. Mc-Kee, and will leave at 3 o'clock on his return to Washington. turn to Washington.

Dry-Goods Merchant's Failure, Patrick J. Roche, dry-goods merchant at No. 298 Massachusetts avenue, made an assignment in favor of John W. DeBusk yesterday. His assets in stock are $4,674.23, and the liabilities do not materially exceed that figure. His wife, Elizabeth Roche, is a preferred creditor for $2,000. Bad business is the alleged cause of Mr. Roche's financial embarrassment.

No Session of Council.

The Conneil held no session last night, as there were only seven out of the fifteen Democratic members present. The joint convention of the Council and Board of Aldermen will be held next Monday night, and, after the election of officers for the ensning year, a special meeting of the Council will be called to pass the appropriation Articles of Incorporation. The Arcana Gas Company, of Arcana was incorporated yesterday, with a capital stock of $10,000, and the following directors: John L. Thompson, Oscar S. Thompson, Joshua Strange and James B. Strange.

THE BENEVOLENT SOCIETY. A Meeting at Which the Year's Transactions of the Organization Were Reviewed. The fifty-fourth annual meeting of the Indianapolis Benevolent Society was held vesterday afternoon at Plymouth Church, Rev. O. C. McCulloch presiding. In his annual report Mr. McCulloch, after alluding to the financial report and the relief statement, spoke in general terms of the various agencies contributing to the work of the society. He then especially reviewed what the Summer Mission had done in rewhat the Summer Mission had done in relieving sick children and their parents.

The relief statement, which was read by Secretary Smith, showed that 559 individuals had received aid from the society. Besides a large amount of clothing, fuel and provisions given, there was cash relief afforded amounting to $462.50, and rents to the amount of $246.50 were paid. The Friendly Inn entertained during the year 1,685 men, women and children, furnishing 6,495 lodgings and 7,894 meals. The free baths numbered 8,720, and the industrial committee gave twelve days' work and forty-seven garments. The report closed with reference to the Dime Savings and Loan Associ-ence to the Dime Savings and Loan Association as follows:

ation as follows:

"The value of the work must be, not in the number of persons relieved, nor in the amount of money distributed. It is in the prevention of need, in supplying the opportunity for selt help. It is the better way that has reduced the volume of relief."

President McCulloch supplemented this reference by a statement that there are now 1,488 members in the association, holding 3,684 shares. There has been $24,148.12 paid in—mostly in nickels and dimes. Of this, $10,025 has been loaned at 6 per cent. interest on first-class mortgage security, and three dividends of 5 per cent. have been made. The weekly receipts are $350, and an average of twenty new members join the association every week without solicitation. The great effect of this organization is that a large per cent, of those interested in it were formerly recipients of charity, but are now so no longer.

The financial report of the Benevolent Society was as follows:

Lecture on Charity. The first of a series of lectures on charity, before a class in the Plymouth Charity Organization Society, was delivered last night by Alexander Johnson, secretary of the Board of State Charities. A large number were present, attesting a wide interest in the subject. The lecturer sought first to clear away the hazy and inaccurate ideas entertained of the social science, and especially of the particular branch of it embraced in the word charity. He called attention to the errors into which well-meaning men fall, dispensing charity. He urged, therefore, a more accurate knowledge of the work in hand in all its bearings and relations to other portions of society. It is yet a question, he acknowledged, whether there is a science of charities. Science is knowledge made fuller and quantitative. After the discourse some quantitative. After the discourse some time was spent in hearing and answering questions. The class will meet every second Monday, at 7:45 P. M.
